

CADOTTE FAMILY STORIES

1
J. T. F. C.
C. 1
C. 2
C. 3
C. 4
C. 5
C. 6
C. 7
C. 8
C. 9
C. 10
C. 11
C. 12
C. 13
C. 14
C. 15
C. 16
C. 17
C. 18
C. 19
C. 20
C. 21
C. 22
C. 23
C. 24
C. 25
C. 26
C. 27
C. 28
C. 29
C. 30
C. 31
C. 32
C. 33
C. 34
C. 35
C. 36
C. 37
C. 38
C. 39
C. 40
C. 41
C. 42
C. 43
C. 44
C. 45
C. 46
C. 47
C. 48
C. 49
C. 50
C. 51
C. 52
C. 53
C. 54
C. 55
C. 56
C. 57
C. 58
C. 59
C. 60
C. 61
C. 62
C. 63
C. 64
C. 65
C. 66
C. 67
C. 68
C. 69
C. 70
C. 71
C. 72
C. 73
C. 74
C. 75
C. 76
C. 77
C. 78
C. 79
C. 80
C. 81
C. 82
C. 83
C. 84
C. 85
C. 86
C. 87
C. 88
C. 89
C. 90
C. 91
C. 92
C. 93
C. 94
C. 95
C. 96
C. 97
C. 98
C. 99
C. 100

The Cadotte research has culminated in the dedication of the statue of the "Cadotte Fur Trader"; and its placement in our beautiful Riverview Park.

The search is not ended; it probably never will be. Time, man and nature have erased the positive location of the "log cabins" but the evidence indicates that the affinity of the Cadotte family to "Cadotte Falls" on the Yellow River, as early as 1787, is real and genuine.

The Cadotte fur traders have been adjudged: intelligent, important, distinctive, colorful, vibrant, illustrious, unassuming, energetic, enterprising, adventurous, fearless, humane, historic, trustworthy, persuasive, reasoning, charitable, befriending, sympathetic, powerful, sagacious, skillful, resourceful, courageous, arbitrate, influential, shrewd, mediating, understanding, just, and many more adjectives you will find in the stories about them. We do well to commemorate them.

As the stories of the family and their kinsfolk unfolded, it was my first impression that some day, some writer, with a flair for descriptive language, and a vivid imagination, would piece the remaining mysteries together and write a novel. And perhaps, some day, one will.

Across the span of over 300 years in the "Melting Pot" which is America, is united the blood of the French trader with the blood of a Chippewa chief; with the blood of a pilgrim; with the blood of a prominent Maryland family; with the blood of a president; with the blood of many, many more. There is the panoramic view of the fur trading era; of transitional periods in our history; of the vicissitudes of life.

As the assembly progressed further, it was my second impression that perhaps the plot and a kind of novel was already here, with only the truth in it. Every incident, every evidence, presents a picture, a life-like story in itself, which contributes to the whole; with thoughtful observations; with virtuous lessons; with comprehensive human interest; and the thread that weaves them all together is the name "Cadotte"; resulting in the Cadotte Family Stories.

As we reflect on the Bi-Centennial of our nation, may these stories serve to remind us that our heritage was fashioned by the acts of our forefather, in their day; that history is fashioned in the events of each and every day; and that whatever is passed on to posterity will be fashioned, in some way, by what we do, in our day. May it be in a way worthy of commemoration.

Thomas H. Tobola

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I want to express appreciation to all who so graciously contributed to this book; to those whose names are in it; and as well, to the others, wherever they are, for the responses, the suggestions, the cooperation. Especially to the historical societies: Wisconsin, Minnesota, Notre Dame and Chicago. To the colleges; the libraries and librarians; especially the Cadott Library; to the newspapers; J. B. Chapple; the press association; The Cadott Sentinel; Cadott Printing; the churches; public officials; county, state and national; and to the kinsfolk of the Cadotte family; especially to Annie Ermatinger, Mrs. Kermit Benson, James Hull, and Sister Sirilla.

Above all, I want to thank the Lord for granting me the will and the perseverance to assemble it and have it done.

T. H. T.

CADOTT Chippewa County

Jean Baptiste Cadotte (or Cadeau) was the son of a famous French Canadian fur trader who settled on Madeline Island where he married a Chippewa Indian girl and established a fur trading post. Young Cadotte established a trading post at a falls on the Yellow River about 1/4 of a mile downstream from the present village. For many years, it was known as Cadotte Falls. It is not known when the final letter was lost, but when the village was first settled by Robert Mariner in 1865, it was called Cadott and was platted under that name ten years later. Young Jean's brother, Michel, was educated in Montreal, Canada, and married Equaysayway, the daughter of White Crane, the village chief on the island. Michel Cadotte built the settlement at LaPointe.

(Taken from "Romance in Wisconsin Place Names.")

With appreciation
To
The State Historical Society of Wis.

Thomas H. Tobola

Compiled and edited by Thomas Henry Tobola
© Copyright 1974 by Thomas Henry Tobola. All rights reserved.
Printed by Cadott Printing, Route 2, Cadott, Wis. 54727

CONTENTS

I RESEARCH AND RESPONSES

Research letter and Postscript	1-2
Selection of Responses (13)	3-9

II HISTORICAL REFERENCES (Excerpts)

Alexander Henry — Travels	10-12
Malhiot's Journal	12-14
Warren — "History of the Ojibway Nation"	14-34
Randall — "History of the Chippewa Valley"	34-37

III SUMMARY AND NARRATIVE ACCOUNTS

The British Regime in Wisconsin (Excerpts)	38-40
The Story of Chequamegon Bay (Excerpts)	40-41
A Jean Baptiste Cadotte Account 1760-1810	41-46
Hull — "Red Shadows in the Mist (Excerpts)	46-52
Burnham — "The Lake Superior Country" (Excerpts)	52-56
Raihle — "The Cadotts"	56-57
Muggah-Raihle — "White Mans Burden"	57-59
Bartlett — "History and Tradition" (Excerpts)	59-62

IV SKETCHES — STATEMENTS — TRADITIONS

Chippewa County Historical Sketch	63-64
St. Rose of Lima — Sketch	64
Traditions — Statements (7)	64-67

V GENEALOGICAL REPORTS

Bibliograph (N-W Documents)	68
Mackinac Baptisms	69-70
Warren	70-71
Annie Ermatinger — Family Tree	72
Mrs. Benson — Family Tree	73
Chapple — There's a New Michael Cadotte	74-76
La Pointe Census	76
Sr. Sirilla	76

VI TANGIBLE EVIDENCES

Michel Cadotte — Account Book	77-80
The Annie Ermatinger Letters	81-85
Notre Dame — Baptisms	86
Census Report (1870)	87
Augustus Cadotte Papers	88-91
Brunet's Journal	92-93

CONTENTS (Continued)

CS
71
C125
1974

VII WHAT IS IN A NAME?

Plat — Village of Cadotte Falls	94-95
Appointment — Post Office	96-97
"Recollections" — Walter H. Brovald	98-99
"Cadeau-Cadotte" — R. C. Ebert	100-101
"Cadot-Cadotte" — Tobola	102-103

VIII PROFILES

Memoir of William Whipple Warren (MHS)	104-108
Michel Cadotte (WPA)	108-111
A Singular Story	111-113
Burnham Letter	113-114
Chippewa Service to Country	114-115
Mrs. James Ermatinger	115-116
Fred Ermatinger	116-117
George P. Warren	117-119
The Melting Pot	119
Who Is An Indian?	119-121
Stepping Stones — Caroline Benson	121-124
Sister M. Sirilla O.S.F.	124-145